ASK TRUSTEES FOR SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL

The Hammond city council will be asked within the next 60 days to appoint three trustees who, with two others to be appointed by the judges of the circuit court, will constitute a committee to work out the details for the new combined city hall and memorial building which will be erected in Hammond within a year.

Preliminary arrangements and legal details in connection with the building and site have occupied the attention of seven prominent public men in the city for several months and their report will soon be ready for presentation to the city council.

One of the points of conflict from which much discussion is expected to transpire will be the question of a site for the building. Speaking of this yesterday a member of the Memorial Committee said: "There are many things to be considered in choosing the site. The plot must be approximately 200 feet square so as to provide for a building of great dimensions, and to allow for drives and walks. It must be selected with a view to adequate sewage disposal and to secure proper drainage for the swimming pool. The location should be central, and here we have already met opposition from residents of Calumet avenue and State street vicinities who object to placing the building in the present business district of Hammond."

Some of the sites agreed upon by the committee and all of which will be presented for recommendation to the city council are:

1. The old Central school property, 2. Strip on south side of Fayette st., between Central school property and Monroe tracks; 3. North side of State st. and immediately east of postoffice; 4. South side of State street, just in middle of block between 8th and Oakley streets.

The committee welcomes suggestions as to the proper site, pointing out that maximum as the tax payers of the city are going to pay for the building they should take some interest in its erection and location.

Sketches of the new building have been received from four architects: T. T. Hutton & Son, Hammond; A. E. Wickes, Gary, E. E. Roberts, Chicago, and Lawrence F. Peck, New York.

It is not probable that any of these plans will be accepted as received according to a statement made by a member of the committee, and continuing he said: "We have looked over all the plans and have a more or less definite idea of what the building should be. The final plans will be a composite building (the various individual and excellent features which each of the architects has presented). The structure will probably be of two and one-half or three stories in height. An effort will be made to have the building constructed on the unit plan and obviate the necessity of elevators by spreading the structure rather than making it three or four stories high.

The building will combine the features of a community center and memorial and will have ample accommodations for a city hall. The committee has agreed on several improvements which the building will contain.

The first floor will be occupied by a gymnasium, 1,500 feet, swimming pool, 50x20 feet and locker and shower rooms for men and women. On the mezzanine floor will be provided club rooms, rest rooms, reading room, etc. The gymnasium will have a stage at one end and will be used also as an auditorium and dance floor. Should the building be constructed on the unit plan the gymnasium will be placed in a building of its own, with steel-reinforced roof, and similar in design to present gym at Northwestern University. If this plan is carried through the auditorium will occupy the first floor with movable seats, allowing for dances. The balcony will seat 800 and the main floor approximately 1,500. There will be no megaphone door comprising the offices of the mayor, city treasurer and city clerk. Immediately above this floor will be another containing the council chamber, city court rooms, offices of city engineer, building inspector, comptroller, electrician, etc.

The estimated cost of the structure is placed at $200,000. The money will be raised by taxation through special dispensation granted by the state tax board.
